"Tusen år før profeten Muhammed ble født, satt jødene allerede i eksil ved elvene i Babylon og sang: "Glemmer jeg dig, Jerusalem, da glemme mig min høire hånd!" [Salme Salme 137,5]" (Britisk MP Alfred Duff Cooper; 30.07.39<sup>1</sup>)

"Don't threaten us with cutting off your aid. It will not work. I am not a Jew with trembling knees. I am a proud Jew with 3,700 years of civilized history. Nobody came to our aid when we were dying in the gas chambers and ovens. Nobody came to our aid when we were striving to create our country. We paid for it. We fought for it. We died for it. We will stand by our principles. We will defend them. And, when necessary, we will die for them again, with or without your aid." Noen noterte formodentlig tilbakeholdt amerikansk våpenleveranse til Israel nylig.<sup>3</sup>

Og jo; vi kommer tilbake til Begin-referansen, til Mark Levin, Fox News, om Joe Biden, a 'diabolical, evil, nasty man' (s.4). Men først:

Altmedens USAs ledende presidentkandidat for høstens valg, uke etter uke holdes i en rettsal på Manhattan, New York, uten at der foreligger noe kriminelt – annet enn selve rettssaken – leverer Dagen 14. mai et forside- / flerside- skandaleoppslag – vedrørende "Trumps skandaler"; "Trumps skandaler går ikke bort – men det gjør heller ikke støtten blant kristne."

"Anklagene mot den tidligere presidenten er mange og varierte", skriver Dagen og lister dem, "Men ingen av Trumps mange skandaler har fått hans evangelisk kristne velgerskare til å vende ham ryggen."

"-Hva tenker du om rettssakene som Trump befinner seg i? Går ikke flere av handlingene han er anklaget for direkte imot det Bibelen sier", spør Dagens Deborah Selbekk Lunde Clark Michaels fra Colorado Springs. Hun får informert svar, et svar journalisten avrunder, ikke med 'sier' eller 'forteller', men med "mener Michaels".

Har Donald J. Trump levert skandaler i aktuelle anliggende? Enn 'den andre siden' – den man lite eller intet skriver om, den som frembringer 'saker' til behandling i en rettsal?

Historiker Victor Davis Hanson (Hoover Inst., Stanford Univ.) 13. mai:<sup>4</sup> "Given these egregious violations of the law, abject political bias, conflicts of interest, asymmetrical application of the law, and manipulations of the statutes of limitations, the public has slowly grown incensed. conclude that the lawfare is a left-wing coordinated effort to destroy candidate Trump by exhausting him physically and psychologically in five separate cases at the height of the campaign season, bankrupting him with what will likely be $1 billion in legal fees and fines, silencing him with gag orders, defaming him with salacious and sensational but irrelevant court testimonies, and keeping him off the campaign trail.

And now? The sheer preposterousness has resulted in two unexpected developments. One, the more the left tries to subvert the legal system to emasculate Trump, the more the latter wins popularity, especially in traditionally non-Republican constituencies, even as Biden slumps in the polls. And two, the four criminal cases are starting to fall apart because of their sheer ridiculousness and abject bias." Og, som Harvard jus-professor Alan Dersowitz (for øvrig forfatter av boken Israels Sak) sier nylig: "There is no crime in Manhattan."<sup>5,6</sup>

Og forøvrig: President Trump's rådgiver Peter Navarro sitter for tiden i føderalt fengsel. Biden's Department of Justice vil snarest ha Trump's White House sjefsstrateg, Stephen K. Bannon, samme vei.<sup>7</sup> Og nei – grunnlaget er ikke bedre enn i prosessene mot sjefen, mot Trump. Og både Navarro og Bannon er vesentlige i virket for republikansk valgseier i november.

Enn den andre – Joseph R. Biden? Var han verdt å skrive hjem om?

Etter å ha kunnet følge Donald J. Trump's presidentskaps følger for USA og verden i nærmere fire år, blir mange-og-tredve norske 'kristen-ledere' høsten 2020 spurt om foretrukket presidentkandidat ved valget en måned senere – President Trump eller tidligere president Barack Hussein Obama's visepresident Joseph. R. Biden, hvis kvaliteter og holdninger vel ikke på tidspunktet skulle være komplett ukjent. Og ca. det doble antallet av Trump-stemmer ville gått for Biden.

Det ble valg – redaktør Vebjørn Selbekk skriver 5. november<sup>8</sup>: "En såpass stødig kar som Franklin Graham formidler ... påstander om valgfusk og mulig svindel."

"Som kjent begynte Donald Trump å snakke om fusk og svindel lenge før valgdagen. Det narrative passer perfekt inn i det bildet han hele tiden har prøvd å skape av seg selv.

Han er best, størst, rikost, mektigst og mest populær. I egne øyne er han egentlig ganske uovervinnelig, og hvis noen likevel skulle beseire ham, må det ha skjedd ved metoder som ikke tåler dagens lys.

Bare slik blir et valgnederlag mulig å forstå i Donald Trumps selvopptatte verden.

Det er rett og slett nedslående at amerikansk kristenhet ikke klarer å tolke disse påstandene om valgjuks for det de virkelig er: Bare enda et utslag av presidentens narsissistiske selvforståelse. I stedet omtolker de situasjonen og gjør den til et oppgjør mellom Gud og Satan, engler og demoner, himmel og helvete.

Like ille er det at innflytelsesrike kristenledere ikke ser hvor stor skade slike udokumenterte påstander om valgjuks gjør med tilliten til det amerikanske demokratiet."

"I stedet har de altså valgt å tømme bensin på bålet. De som kunne bidratt til å samle nasjonen, hjelper i stedet til med å splitte den."

"Det vi er vitne til i amerikansk kristenhet nå er et skrekkeksempel på hvordan en usunn kobling mellom religion og politikk skader både religionen og politikken." Skriver Selbekk – "Som kjent begynte Donald Trump å snakke om fusk og svindel lenge før valgdagen..."

"There is nothing "unprecedented" about challenging election results. And for Democrats, there's nothing unprecedented in trying to manipulate them." Victor Davis Hanson, oktober 2022:<sup>9,10</sup>

"Time magazine's Molly Ball in a triumphalist essay bragged that in 2020 a combination of Big Tech money from Silicon Valley – fueled by Mark Zuckerberg's $419 million infusion – absorbed the balloting collection and counting of several key voting precincts weighed to help Joe Biden. Ball bragged of careful pre-election censoring of the contemporary news by Big Tech. Most notably, that effort spread the lie that the Hunter Biden laptop scandal was "Russian disinformation." Left-wing interest groups modulated the often-violent Black Lives Matter and Antifa street protests of 2020 in efforts to aid the Biden campaign.

Ball summed up that left-wing election engineering effort as "a conspiracy unfolding behind the scenes" and called it "the secret history of the 2020 election."

So, who exactly were those "secret" warpers of the 2020 election?

As Ball put it: "A well-funded cabal of powerful people, ranging across industries and ideologies, working together behind the scenes to influence perceptions, change rules and laws, steer media coverage and control the flow of information."

It is entirely legitimate to question the probity and legality of those systematic left-wing efforts in key states to overturn long-standing voting laws passed by state legislatures.

Then followed an even larger effort to render Election Day a mere construct for the first time in American history. Over 100 million ballots were not cast on Election Day, the vast majority of them (and by design) Biden votes. Somehow customary ballot disqualification rates of mail-in ballots in some states plunged – even as their numbers exploded.

The scariest form of election interference was the 2020 "cabal." The FBI, Silicon Valley, street protestors, and the media all conspired to work for the "right result."

Apparently, that "conspiracy" was the denialists' response to the 2016 victory of Donald Trump that they never accepted."

En sommerdag 2015 – Trump vet. Father Trump "looked me in the eyes and he says: 'And now we find out who our real friends are' ", forteller Don Jr.<sup>11</sup> – Donald Trump entrer 'The Escalator' ned til lobby i Trump Tower, New York City, og annonserer sin president-kampanje.

Kortversjon: En fredeligere verden utenfor USA. Bedrede kår for den hjemlige amerikaner. Flere anstendige høyesterettsdommere – det har reddet liv.

Apropos Den romersk-katolske 'kirke':<sup>16</sup>

"Shaped by centuries of Jesuit education around the globe, our culture embraces the changing times while staying true to core values – engaging your intellect, helping you grow ethically and spiritually, exchanging ideas freely and building a more just world." (Georgetown University;<sup>17</sup> Washington D.C.)

"I over 300 år, siden 1624 [eller fire år etter Mayflower ankret ved Cape Cod], har jesuittene vært forbudt adgang til Norge. Siden 1814 står forbudet i Grunnlovens § 2. Det siste forsøk som ble gjort på å få forbudet opphevd, i 1925, ble avvist med overveldende flertall av Stortinget. Denne gang utgår initiativet til å få forbudet opphevd fra det kgl. Utenriksdepartement, med bistand av Kirke- og Justisdepartementet – støttet av regjeringsspressen og en stor del anti-kristelige og humanistiske redaktører i andre aviser." Prest, Dr.philos. Olav Valen-Sendstad; Bør jesuittene få adgang til Norge?; NRK 11.04.51.<sup>18</sup> Forbudet slettet i 1956.

Valen-Sendstad: "Jesuitterordenen har ikke vært forbudt fordi den er en religiøs orden, men fordi den er en temmelig ondartet religions-politisk kamporganisasjon, som står i tjeneste hos en religionspolitisk makt som gjør overhøyhtesfordringer av åndelig og politisk art gjeldende overfor alle folk – nemlig den romerske pavemakt."

Fire hundre år frem – 2024, 31. mars: "The House Oversight Committee has officially opened an investigation into the Transition Integrity Project at Georgetown University. In a letter to Rosa Brooks, who is the founder and facilitator of that group, Rep. Pete Sessions spoke about the "intensely partisan exercise" which he states is "intended to sew dissension and subversion regarding the American election system and the institution of the president of the United States."<sup>19,20</sup>

Transition Integrity Project – Tucker Carlson (TC) & J. Michael Waller (JMW):<sup>21</sup>

TC -So what would be the point of this?

JMW -To make sure that their transition has integrity, meaning that even – according to their latest war games – if Donald Trump wins a free and fair election, he still has to be removed.

TC -So if you have people – again, just a definition of terms – if you have people who are calling for the removal by force of an elected official, that is, I mean, that is insurrection, right?

JMW -It's, yes, it's legal insurrection, because they're doing this now through lawfare. They're doing it through Georgetown University Law Center. That's the premier law school in Washington, DC. It's a feeder school to the Justice Department. It's a feeder school to Supreme Court clerks, to the whole intelligence community. And this stuff is being planned there.

TC -So a country that cared about its own preservation, cared to, you know, see its own systems continue for the benefit of its grandchildren, would immediately shut down Georgetown University Law Center, obviously, because it's a, it's an insurrectionist?

JMW -Imagine if Hillsdale [College] was doing this."

Det er svært viktig at resolusjonen fastslår at Palestina oppfyller alle krav for å tas opp som medlem av FN... Norge støtter fullt opp om palestinernes krav om å tas opp som fullverdig medlem av FN. Det var derfor viktig for Norge å stemme ja og stå som medforslagsstiller til resolusjonen. Ikke nok at tre fjerdedeler av det i 1920 lovede land ble omgjort til en araberstat – eller 'palestinsk stat', om man vil – staten Jordan.<sup>27</sup>

<sup>23</sup> Den "århundregamle tradisjonelle bruken av "palestiner" for å beskrive jøder, innebærer en kraftig tilbakevisning av den i vår tid alminnelige bruk av benevnelsen "palestiner" – som blir benyttet ene og alene om arabiske flyktninger. Den psykologiske propagandaen som araberne har tatt i bruk ved å annektere ordet "palestiner" som et arabisk begrep, er meget betydningsfull. Hvis de arabiske flyktningene blir sett på som "palestinerne", kommer verdens oppfatning generelt til å identifisere de palestinsk-arabiske flyktningene med Palestina." (Peters, J.; Fra uminnelige tider; s.111)

"Da jeg for eksempel undersøkte FN-dokumenter fra 1948 og fremover, ble jeg oppmerksom på en tilsynelatende tilfeldig endring av definisjonen på hva som betegner en arabisk "flyktning" fra Israel... I andre tilfeller var den mer eller mindre universelle beskrivelsen av "flyktning" personer som var blitt tvunget til å forlate sine "faste hjem" eller "sedvanlige" boliger. Når det gjaldt de arabiske flyktningene derimot, hadde definisjonen blitt utvidet slik at alle som hadde vært i "Palestina" i et minimum av to år før Israel ble erklært som stat i 1948, ble definert som flyktninger...

De to situasjonene var ikke forenlige: "To-års-klausulen" endret kategorien "arabisk flyktning" på en måte som brakte inn en selvmotsigelse når det gjaldt antatte historiske faktorer som er selve grunnlag[et] for det nåværende arabiske kravet om "legitime rettigheter for det palestinske folket og det som har vært deres hjemland i "tusen år" eller "to tusen år"."" For etter hvert ganske mange år tilbake gjorde israelske statsmakter del av Israels territorium, Gaza, judenrein – Murray: "-Well, you know, the Palestinians promptly elected Hamas who then killed their Palestinian brothers and sisters who were from rival groups, like Fatah, threw them off buildings, shot them in the back, dragged their corpses around behind trucks around the Gaza in a celebration – that was an early sign, I would say, that the Two State Solution was in trouble, because they've been given a state in Gaza. And, you know, there were leftwing politicians, many of whom I spoke to, who, you know, they said at the time: you've got all of the infrastructure we left, the International Community will give you money, we will give you money – okay, you're not going to be able to control your air space, for instance, but you build Singapore – and they didn't build Singapore."

"- ... I don't see why Egypt shouldn't help solve the problem of Gaza, they share a border with it, Egypt used to own the Gaza, give it to Egypt to solve. And if you were to say that, they would say: well we don't want the Palestinians – that's what Sisi and Co. all ...; we don't want them. Palestinians brought terror everywhere they went – everywhere they went – where the PLO went, where Yasser Arafat went, everywhere they went they brought terror. Whether it was Egypt, Jordan, Tunisia, Lebanon. That's why, so... The Jewish State keeps on being told: solve this insoluble problem."

"- Hamas has had control of the education of Palestinians in Gaza for 18 years and it has created a generation of sociopaths... it's UNRWA, it's UN entities that you and I and other Western taxpayers have all paid for, who have not policed the school text books in Gaza, did not stop them teaching the children, not how to thrive in a potential Singapore, but rather how to kill Jews and that the best thing you could do with your life was to kill a Jew. So, that was them. All the UN Aid agencies; UNICEF was meant to look after children ..."

Og til slutning – fremdeles Murray:

"- ... these demonstrations in London in recent months ... a lot of the world sees what's happening in our country ... and ... they say to me this: what has happened to Britain?

And I have two answers; one is: it is really serious, it is really serious; and secondly: that isn't Britain, that does not speak for Britain. And I think both of those things are worth keeping in mind.

-So are you hopeful that Britain can be salvaged?

-Well, I think so, but it would require a massive change of tone and a change of leadership, and, and – it's so strange, I mean, British politicians are so odd, I've watched them all my life, I've known quite a lot from all sides, and many are driven by very good instincts, many are driven by a genuine sense for public service – but they are also creatures of the wind. You know, they do, for some reason, float where the wind blows them, and the reason I think we've had a generation of pretty supine politicians on this, is that they are, they are basically herded like a herd of sheep, by very angry sheep dogs, who nip, and sometimes savage, people at the side of the herd, in order to make the herd behave in a certain way. And we've seen that in recent months as well."

Dan til Beersheba" oppsummerte at statslederne aksepterte at landet skulle samsvare med det opprinnelige Israel, slik det framgikk av kart framlagt av Lloyd George under konferansen ... Det omfattet hele det historiske Israel, både vest og øst for Jordan-elva. Hele Palestina skulle bli staten "for jødene overalt i verden", slik Storbritannias utenriksminister og statsminister fastslo. Referatene fra denne dagen viser entydig at mandatområdet ble opprettet utelukkende for å skape den framtidige jødiske staten, og av ingen annen grunn." (Hildrum; Israels land etter internasjonal lov (2. utg.); s.12)

"I løpet av årene ble jødisk immigrasjon begrenset selv i den vesle delen av de jødisk-bosatte områdene i Vest-Palestina. "Regjeringen" forbød jødiske bosetninger i det østlige området av Palestina, som ble kalt Transjordan, mens de samtidig lukket øynene for omfattende arabisk tilflytning og illegal arabisk immigrasjon til de jødisk befolkede områdene i Vest-Palestina. Situasjonen som oppstod var faktisk talt diametralt motsatt til det uttalte formålet med det jødiske nasjonalhjem – og la i stedet opp til arabisk tilstrømming og satte restriksjoner ene og alene for jødene."
